

Kiosk cont'd from page 3

their unusual, hand-picked selections (cacti succulents to bromeliads) as well as their drive-up corner location...

Speaking of convenient "drive up" locations, the corner of the Denver Center for the Performing Arts complex is currently sporting a new music cabaret club. Encore opened a few months ago and in addition to having the attractive amenity for consumers of "no cover, no minimum," the space right off Curtis showcases everything from jazz to pop and calypso, and features national as well as local artists, showcasing original works...

From the Kiosk mailbag comes word that the Boulder Dinner Theater is showcasing the Broadway classic The King and I. The show runs through February.

From a Renaissance art tour in Firenze, to your own box at the Italian Grand Prix or La Scala, to haute cuisine in Roma or Bologna--you create it, you design it! Classical, personalized, a la carte travel to Italy has arrived in Denver. Alvaro Pisoni, president of Pisoni-Ferrari Tour Company (European Travel Specialists), started his sole proprietorship in Parker nearly eight years ago. After graduating from the University of Colorado at Denver, the native of Trento--a former architect and alpine skier in northern Italy--decided the travel business here could use a more intimate touch, as he says, "Like going to Italy with a friend..." Pisoni combines his American business acumen with refined and indepth contacts throughout "the boot" and the rest of Europe to make your "Roman holiday" an adventure with a native...

Denver Civic Theater, the renovated former vaudeville house on Santa Fe, meanwhile kicks off Denver's premiere performance of "Blame It On the Movies (The Reel Music of Hollywood)" November 6, and showcases its holiday musical, "An Alternative Christmas Carol" later this month...

Jody Reed is a former consumer and entertainment T.V. reporter, who also worked as a writer in the White House and the U.S. Senate. She writes for several publications in the Denver area.

SMALL BUSINESS REVIEW

Volume II, Number 11

November-December '92
FREE

COLORADO'S UPDATE ON SMALL BUSINESS

Strategies for Success

Marketing

Business and Politics - It Can Work
Trade Name Registration

